1. Preamble and validity of different GTC, general agreement

These contractual conditions shall apply exclusively to the entire business relationship between the buyer/client and Better Peptides Platform GmbH, Waldshuter Straße 5, 68239 Mannheim, Germany (hereinafter “BPP GmbH”). Terms and conditions of purchase and other terms and conditions of the buyer/client are hereby rejected.
The acceptance and execution of orders shall not constitute recognition of the buyer's/client's terms and conditions or a waiver of the following terms and conditions, even if the buyer's/client's request to this effect has not been expressly objected to. Under no circumstances shall the provisions set out in these GTC be replaced by the buyer's/client's terms and conditions. The written confirmation of BPP GmbH is decisive for the conclusion of the contract.
The provisions of § 312 e para. 1 sentence 1 no. 1-3 BGB on obligations in electronic business transactions are expressly waived between BPP GmbH and the buyer/client.

The parties agree that the commercial and/or unauthorized use of knowledge of trade secrets obtained in the course of the contract shall oblige the other party to pay damages.

Insofar as the female or male form is used for a contracting party in this contract, the provisions shall apply equally if a different designation should correctly have been used.

Unless expressly agreed, accessories or instructions are not owed. Instructions are for information purposes only and do not constitute an agreement on a corresponding contractual quality of the goods or a suitability for use assumed under the contract. Quality and durability specifications as well as other specifications are only guarantees if they are expressly agreed and designated as such.

BPP shall not be obliged to provide consultancy services; details and information on the suitability and use of the goods shall not release the buyer from the obligation to carry out its own tests and trials and shall not constitute an agreement regarding the contractual quality or specific suitability for use.

The products supplied do not meet the requirements of the EU guidelines for GMP in the field of human and animal medicinal products.
They can therefore not be used as active ingredients in human or veterinary medicine.

BPP GmbH must be contacted prior to any intended use as pharmaceutical, cosmetic, food additives, agricultural adjuvants, pesticides or for domestic use.
Buyers intending to use products for pharmaceutical, cosmetic, food or other purposes must carry out their own risk assessments and ensure that they act in accordance with local legal requirements and regulations (e.g. the European Pharmacopoeia).

Under no circumstances can BPP GmbH be held liable if the buyer uses a product for a purpose for which it was not intended.

In addition, it is the sole responsibility of the buyer to comply with the relevant health and safety and other legal regulations and to take the necessary measures in connection with and during the storage, transportation, sale and use of the products.

By using the products of BPP GmbH, you automatically agree to the currently valid General Terms and Conditions of Better Peptides Platform GmbH for the sale of goods and the provision of services.

2. Confidentiality and intellectual property, in particular of materials

Confidentiality

Information disclosed by one Party to the other Party in connection with this Agreement that is designated as confidential or marked as confidential or otherwise identified as Proprietary Information shall be deemed to be Proprietary Information of the Party within the meaning of the GeschGehG.
Each Party may only disclose such Proprietary Information of the other Party to the employees of the recipient of the information who need such Proprietary Information to produce or evaluate the resulting goods or services.

The parties are obliged to maintain the confidentiality of confidential information even after the end of the contractual relationship. At the request of one of the parties, they shall conclude a separate non-disclosure agreement.

Materials

Materials are understood to mean the following:

(a) all materials, including peptides and proteins and their sequences, which one party makes available to the other party
(b) all derivatives and modified forms thereof.

Each Party shall retain ownership of the Materials it supplies and all related intellectual property and other rights; the Materials themselves shall constitute the proprietary information of the Parties.

The contracting parties may only pass on, distribute or release materials to the employees of the other contracting party to the extent that this complies with the provisions of the contract concluded and is necessary to achieve the purpose of the contract.
The contracting parties shall not permit anyone to take or send materials to another location unless this is necessary to achieve the purpose of the contract.

Nor will the Parties use the Materials for any purpose that could give rise to a consulting or licensing obligation to third parties, regardless of whether such an obligation already exists or is likely to arise in the future.

The parties mutually undertake to use the materials exclusively in accordance with the purpose of the contract.

Without the prior written consent of the other party to the contract, in particular the materials may not be analyzed or used (except for the performance of the agreed purpose of the contract), modified or subjected to a construction study - in any form whatsoever -,
2.
no patent applications may be filed or other forms of legal protection sought for the Materials or for the results of the examination or treatment of the Materials,
no information or data obtained from the materials or from investigations and processing carried out on them may be used or disclosed.

The parties agree that this is not an exhaustive list, but rather that both contracting parties must refrain from doing anything that could impair the intellectual property of the other contracting party or that could lead to the commercial exploitation of its intellectual property by third parties without the consent of the other contracting party, unless the contracting party supplying the material has given its express consent.

If a contracting party files a patent application or applies for other forms of legal protection for the materials or a result of investigations or processing carried out on them without the prior written consent of the other contracting party, ("unauthorized IP"), it shall transfer all rights which it has acquired to date to the other contracting party without compensation and - insofar as it has enabled third parties to acquire these rights - shall ensure that they are transferred to the contracting party without compensation. If this is not possible, it must place the contractual partner in the same financial position as if the transfer to the third party had not taken place.

3. Prices and offsetting prohibition

All prices are inclusive of packaging costs and exclusive of statutory VAT, unless otherwise agreed in writing. Transportation costs are charged separately. The customer shall bear the shipping costs unless otherwise agreed. If customs duties, taxes, fees and other charges increase after conclusion of the contract, this shall be borne by the buyer. In particular, an increase in the statutory VAT rate between conclusion of the contract and actual delivery shall result in a corresponding increase in the agreed gross purchase price.

The same applies to any increase in transportation costs, irrespective of whether these are to be borne by the buyer or BPP GmbH. Offsetting by the buyer with counterclaims is excluded unless the buyer's claims are undisputed or have been legally established; this does not apply to counterclaims arising from the same contractual relationship. The provisions on offsetting and the right of retention shall also apply to the assertion of defects.

4. Delivery time, validity of INCOTERMS, partial performance

4.1 The method of shipment shall be determined by BPP GmbH, unless otherwise agreed in writing. Shipment shall be CPT (Incoterms® 2020) destination. Unless expressly agreed otherwise, promised delivery periods and delivery dates (delivery time) refer to the time of dispatch or handover for collection and in no case constitute a firm deal. All delivery times are subject to proper and timely delivery to us. If the delivery time is exceeded, the buyer is entitled to set a reasonable grace period and, after its expiry, to withdraw from the contract with regard to the goods or quantity not yet delivered. For further claims, in particular claims for damages, the provisions of clause 9 shall apply.

4.2 Force majeure and events beyond the control of BPP GmbH, such as, in particular, acts of government, labor disputes including strikes and lawful lockouts, energy and raw material shortages, transport disruptions or unavoidable operational disruptions and epidemics or pandemics, shall release BPP GmbH from its delivery obligation for the duration of the disruption and to the extent of its effects. If the disruption is not remedied within a reasonable period of time, BPP GmbH shall be entitled to withdraw from the contract, excluding any obligation to pay compensation. If the delivery delayed or restricted by such disruption is demonstrably no longer of interest to the buyer, the buyer shall be released from the obligation to take delivery, provided that BPP GmbH does not suffer any disadvantages beyond its own loss of profit as a result.

4.3 The above provision in paragraph 2 shall also apply if force majeure or one of the events mentioned in paragraph 2 occurs on the part of BPP GmbH's suppliers.

4.4 BPP shall be entitled to make and invoice partial deliveries, provided that the partial deliveries can be used by the buyer within the scope of the contractual purpose, the delivery of the legally ordered goods is ensured and the client does not incur any significant additional work or additional costs as a result, unless the seller agrees to bear these costs.

4.5 Prospective deadlines and dates for deliveries and services are always only approximate and subject to change, unless a fixed deadline or a fixed date has been expressly promised or agreed.

4.6 In accordance with § 15 para. 1 sentence 2 VerpackG and, since 12 August 2026, in accordance with § 39 para. 1 sentence 2 VerpackDG, the parties agree that the legal obligation to take back packaging within the meaning of VerpackG and VerpackDG is transferred to the customer. The customer assumes the obligation to dispose of the packaging properly and professionally in accordance with the statutory provisions or to recycle it at its own expense. The customer indemnifies us from all obligations to take back and dispose of this packaging as well as from related claims by third parties.

5. Default of payment and advance payment

5.1 Unless otherwise agreed, payment shall be made without deduction immediately upon receipt of the invoice. Bills of exchange and checks are not accepted as means of payment.

5.2 An agreed cash discount shall only be granted if all older invoices due have been settled and the buyer settles the outstanding invoice amount in full and on time.

5.3 In accordance with § 286 para. 3 BGB, the buyer shall be in default at the latest if he does not make payment within 30 days of the due date and receipt of the invoice or an equivalent payment schedule.

5.4 If the buyer is in default, default interest of 9 percentage points above the respective base interest rate p.a. shall be charged. We reserve the right to assert claims for additional or further damages.

5.5 Offsetting and rights of retention can only be exercised by the purchaser if his counterclaims have been legally established or are undisputed.

6. Transfer of risk

6.1 The risk is transferred to the buyer as soon as the goods have been handed over to the transport company or have left the warehouse of BPP GmbH. Shipment is always at the risk of the buyer. This also applies if BPP GmbH bears the costs of transportation and/or insures it on the basis of individual agreements. All agreed delivery clauses only regulate the bearing of costs.

6.2 Complaints due to transport damage must be reported by the buyer directly to the transport company with a copy to the seller within the special deadlines provided for this purpose.

7. Retention of title

7.1 The goods ("goods subject to retention of title") remain the property of BPP GmbH until the purchase price has been paid in full. In addition, the goods subject to retention of title remain the property of BPP GmbH until all other payment claims arising from the business relationship between BPP GmbH and the buyer that are due at the time the contract is concluded have been settled in full. These goods subject to retention of title shall remain the property of BPP GmbH until full payment of future claims. If, in connection with the payment of the purchase price, a bill of exchange liability is established for BPP GmbH in partial deviation from Section 5.1 of these GTC (check/bill of exchange procedure), the retention of title does not expire before the bill of exchange is honored by the drawee. The buyer is entitled to process and sell the reserved goods in the ordinary course of business, to which the following provisions apply.

7.2 If the goods subject to retention of title are processed by the buyer or a third party commissioned by the buyer, BPP GmbH is the manufacturer within the meaning of § 950 BGB and acquires ownership of the resulting products. If the processing is carried out together with materials of others, BPP GmbH acquires co-ownership of the new item to each degree of processing in the ratio of the invoice value of the reserved goods to the total value of the materials of the others. The same applies to cases of combining and mixing within the meaning of Sections 947, 948 BGB. The regulation in § 947 para. 2 BGB is waived. Instead, the regulation as set out above for processing shall apply.

7.3 Pledging or transfer by way of security of the goods subject to retention of title is excluded. The buyer hereby assigns all claims arising from the sale of goods subject to retention of title to BPP GmbH as security to the extent of BPP GmbH's ownership share in the goods sold; BPP GmbH hereby accepts this assignment; this also applies to the sale of a company. The buyer is only authorized to collect these claims as long as he duly meets his payment obligations to BPP GmbH. The assignment of claims is excluded.

7.4 The Buyer's right to process or combine/mix the goods, as well as the right to resell the goods subject to retention of title and the right to collect the receivables, shall lapse if the Buyer defaults on payment by more than one month, if the Buyer suspends payment, if the Buyer protests a cheque or bill of exchange (insofar as BPP GmbH is in any way the beneficiary of this cheque or bill of exchange), if goods subject to retention of title are seized or if an application is made to open insolvency proceedings or judicial or extrajudicial composition proceedings against the Buyer's assets. The Buyer undertakes to inform the Seller immediately of the occurrence of any of the above-mentioned events. The request to take back and the taking back of the reserved goods shall not be deemed a withdrawal from the contract.

7.5 Upon request, the buyer shall provide all necessary information on the inventory of the goods owned or co-owned by BPP GmbH and on the claims assigned to BPP GmbH and shall inform its customers of the assignment. He must immediately notify third parties of any seizure of such goods or claims. He must insure such goods adequately against the usual risks at his own expense.

7.6 If the value of the securities existing for BPP GmbH exceeds the claims to be secured by more than 10%, the seller shall release securities of its choice at the buyer's request. The valuation of the securities shall be based on the realizable proceeds from the sale of the securities. The Buyer shall provide the Seller with the information necessary for this valuation immediately upon request.

8. Receiving inspection, notification of defects, liability for defects

8.1 The buyer or the recipient designated by him must inspect the goods immediately upon receipt and in any case before handling and processing. After the discovery of defects, the handling and processing of the defective item must be stopped immediately. Obvious defects - including the absence of quality guarantees - must be reported in writing immediately, but at the latest within 7 days of receipt of the goods; hidden defects must be reported in writing immediately, but at the latest within 7 days of their discovery. If the Buyer fails to inspect the goods or to notify us of defects in due form and time, the Buyer shall not be entitled to any claims arising from defects. The timeliness of the notification shall be determined by the time of its receipt by the seller.

8.2 If an acceptance or initial sample inspection has been agreed, a complaint about defects that the buyer could have detected during a careful acceptance or initial sample inspection is excluded.

8.3 In the event of justified complaints, the Seller shall be obliged, at its discretion, to provide subsequent performance either by delivering faultless replacement goods or by rectifying the defect, whereby the rejected parts shall become the property of the Seller. The Seller reserves the right to make 2 attempts at subsequent performance. The seller is entitled to refuse subsequent performance in accordance with the statutory provisions.

8.4 If the Seller fails to fulfill its obligation to provide subsequent performance, the Buyer may, at its discretion, withdraw from the contract or reduce the price after setting the Seller a reasonable grace period, unless this is dispensable under the statutory provisions. In the event of rescission, the Buyer shall be liable for deterioration, loss and unused benefits not only for its own customary care, but also for any fault.

8.5 Further claims for damages and reimbursement of expenses of the Buyer due to or in connection with defects or consequential damage caused by defects, irrespective of the legal grounds, shall only exist in accordance with the provisions in Section 9. In this case, too, the Seller shall only be liable for typical and foreseeable damage.

8.6 The Seller's liability for defects shall not apply if there are no defects in the delivered goods, i.e. in particular if defects are due to improper use, incorrect or negligent handling, natural wear and tear or interference with the delivery item by the Buyer or third parties.

8.7 Liability claims for defects against BPP GmbH shall become statute-barred no later than 12 months after delivery of the goods or acceptance, unless statutory provisions stipulate a longer limitation period.

8.8 If the final purchaser of the goods is a consumer, the statutory provisions shall apply to the limitation period for any right of recourse of the purchaser against the seller.

9. Exclusion and limitation of liability for damages and reimbursement of expenses

9.1 If the buyer is a consumer, the seller's liability for slightly negligent breach of duty is limited to the foreseeable, contract-typical, direct average damage according to the type of goods.

If the buyer is an entrepreneur, a legal entity under public or private law or a special fund under public law, claims for damages are excluded regardless of the type of breach of duty, including tortious acts, unless intentional or grossly negligent action is involved. In the event of a breach of essential contractual obligations (obligations whose fulfillment is essential for the proper execution of the contract and on whose compliance the contractual partner regularly relies and may rely), the seller shall be liable for any negligence, but only up to the amount of the foreseeable, direct average damage typical for the contract. In the event of a breach of non-essential contractual obligations due to simple negligence, the Seller shall not be liable. Claims for loss of profit, saved expenses, useless expenses arising from claims for damages by third parties and other indirect damages and consequential damages cannot be demanded unless a quality feature guaranteed by the seller is specifically intended to protect the buyer against such damages.

9.2 The limitations and exclusions of liability pursuant to 9.1 shall not apply to claims arising from fraudulent conduct on the part of the Seller, nor to liability for guaranteed characteristics, claims under the German Product Liability Act (Produkthaftungsgesetz), nor to damages resulting from injury to life, body or health, nor to the extent that statutory provisions prohibit a limitation of liability.

9.3 In the event of liability in accordance with Section 9.1 and liability without fault, BPP GmbH shall only be liable for typical and foreseeable damage. The assertion of useless expenses by the buyer is excluded.

9.4 In the event of slight negligence, BPP GmbH shall only be liable for damages caused by delay up to 5% of the net order value.

9.5 The buyer shall be responsible for deciding on the use of the delivered goods or other services. Insofar as BPP GmbH has not confirmed in writing the specific properties and suitability of the products for a contractually agreed purpose, any advice on technical application is non-binding. BPP GmbH shall also only be liable in accordance with section 9.1 for advice given or not given which does not relate to the properties and usability of the product supplied.

9.6 The exclusion of liability in accordance with sections 9.1 - 9.5 shall apply to the same extent in favor of the executive bodies, legal representatives, executive and non-executive employees and other vicarious agents of BPP GmbH.

9.7 All claims for damages and reimbursement of expenses against BPP GmbH shall lapse 12 months after delivery of the goods, in the case of tortious liability from the time of knowledge or grossly negligent ignorance of the circumstances giving rise to the claim or the person liable for compensation.

10. Property rights

10.1 If goods are manufactured in accordance with the buyer's specifications and this infringes third-party property rights, the buyer/client shall indemnify BPP GmbH against all third-party claims arising from the infringement of property rights.

10.2 In the event of breaches of contract by the buyer/client, his property rights shall not prevent BPP GmbH from utilizing the goods in accordance with the contract.

11. Export control

11.1 General principles

The Seller draws the Buyer's attention to the fact that European and German foreign trade law applies to the transfer/export of goods (goods, software, technology) and to the provision of services (e.g. assembly, maintenance, servicing, repairs, instruction/training, etc.) with a cross-border connection in order to fulfill the contractual obligation and that the individual deliveries and technical services may be subject to export control restrictions and prohibitions. This applies in particular to so-called armaments and dual-use goods. The relevant legal provisions are Regulation (EC) No. 2021/821 (EC Dual-Use Regulation) and its annexes, the Foreign Trade and Payments Act (AWG), the Foreign Trade and Payments Ordinance (AWV) and its annex (Part I Section A and B of the German Export List), as amended.
In addition, there are European and national embargo regulations against certain countries and persons, companies and organizations that may prohibit the supply, provision, transfer, export or sale of goods and the provision of services or make them subject to approval.
The Buyer acknowledges that the above-mentioned legal provisions are subject to constant changes and adaptations and that they apply to the contract in their respective valid version.
The Buyer undertakes to recognize and comply with the European and German export control regulations and embargo regulations, in particular if the Buyer is affected by a re-export requirement of a license issued to the Seller by the export control authority.
The Buyer further undertakes not to sell, export, re-export, deliver, pass on or otherwise make available the delivered goods, either directly or indirectly, to persons, companies, institutions, organizations or countries, if this violates European or German export regulations or embargo regulations.
Upon request, the Buyer shall be obliged to provide the Seller with adequate and complete information on the end use of the goods or services to be delivered, in particular to issue so-called end-use certificates (EUCs) and to send them to us in the original in order to be able to verify the end use and the intended purpose of the goods or services to be delivered and to provide evidence thereof to the competent export control authority.

11.2 Rescission and compensation

If any necessary export or transfer licenses or other approvals or releases under foreign trade law are not granted by the competent authorities or not granted in good time or if other obstacles to the performance of the contract or delivery arise due to the customs, foreign trade and embargo regulations to be observed by the Seller as exporter or transferor or by suppliers, the Seller shall be entitled to withdraw from the contract or from the individual delivery or service obligation in addition to clause 4.

This shall also apply if corresponding obstacles under export control and embargo law - e.g. due to a change in the legal situation - only arise between the conclusion of the contract and the delivery or performance of the service or when asserting warranty rights and make the performance of the delivery or service temporarily or permanently impossible, because required export or transfer licenses or other foreign trade permits or approvals are not granted or are revoked by the competent authorities or because other legal obstacles due to customs, foreign trade and embargo regulations to be observed prevent the fulfillment of the contract or the delivery or service.
Section 9 of this contract shall apply to any claims for damages on the part of the Buyer for this reason.

11.3 Terms of delivery

Compliance with delivery deadlines may require the release or granting of export or transfer licenses or other approvals under foreign trade law by the competent authorities. If the Seller is prevented from timely delivery due to the duration of the proper execution of an application, approval or inspection procedure under customs or foreign trade law, the delivery period shall be extended appropriately by the duration of the delay caused by this official procedure. The provisions in clause 4 shall remain unaffected.

11.4 Compensation by the buyer

The Buyer shall be fully liable to the Seller for damages and expenses incurred by the Seller due to the Buyer's culpable non-compliance with European and/or German export regulations or embargo regulations.

12. Data protection, Schufa clause

12.1 Personal data of the buyer is collected, processed and stored in accordance with the provisions of the Federal Data Protection Act.

12.2 The Seller reserves the right to obtain information from the SCHUFA company (Schutzgemeinschaft für allgemeine Kreditsicherung) responsible for the Buyer's place of residence or another credit agency for the purpose of a credit check. Furthermore, the Seller reserves the right to report payment histories to credit agencies in accordance with the provisions of the BDSG.

13. Place of fulfillment, jurisdiction and law

13.1 The place of fulfillment for the delivery is the location of the company or warehouse from which the delivery is made.

13.2 The place of jurisdiction shall be Mannheim, whereby BPP GmbH shall also have the right to sue the buyer at his general place of jurisdiction.

13.3 The contractual relationship is subject to the law of the Federal Republic of Germany to the exclusion of German private international law and to the exclusion of the United Nations Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods of April 11, 1980.

13.4 The INCOTERMS in their latest version (currently Incoterms® 2020) shall apply to the interpretation of agreed delivery clauses, notwithstanding the provision made in clause 6 for the transfer of risk.

14. Severability clause

In the event that individual contractual provisions are invalid, the remaining provisions shall remain fully valid. In place of invalid provisions, the parties undertake to agree on a provision that is legally permissible and comes closest to the desired economic result.

15. Priority of the German version
